Welcome to Chosen

Thank you for responding to the call to prepare Catholic teens to take the next important step on their faith journey—Confirmation. I’ve spoken to people involved in youth ministry who are eager to reach this fast-paced, tech-savvy generation with the love of Christ—yet are wondering how, exactly, to communicate the teachings of the Church in a way that “speaks” to those caught up in an increasingly secular world.

If you feel like this, do not be afraid. While the “news of the day” gets old within twenty-four hours, and the latest tech gadget becomes obsolete in six months, the mercy of God is “new each morning” (Lamentations 3:23). That is truly “Good News.”

Whether or not they know it, teens today have hearts and minds made to dive in to the Good News of the gospel. In the words of John Paul II, “Jesus Christ is the answer to the question posed by every human life, and the love of Christ compels us to share that great Good News with everyone.”¹

Just as the God of the universe transformed human history two thousand years ago, he is fully “present” and seeks to transform the hearts of young people, here and now. This life-changing “divine encounter” isn’t a flashy event or a new philosophy; it is a person: Jesus Christ. Instead of encountering God on the crowded streets of Jerusalem, your candidates will encounter him in the sacraments, in the teachings of the Church, in their parish community, in experiences of service, and, in a special way, in you.

It’s our prayer that the thousands of hours of work that went into Chosen will help you to facilitate an encounter with God himself. Like you, we do this work, not because of what we have to give young people, but because of what they have to give to the Church and the world when they open their hearts to God. In the words of the great pope who was such an important part of my own conversion: “I have seen enough evidence to be unshakably convinced that no difficulty, no fear is so great that it can completely suffocate the hope that springs eternal in the hearts of the young, the young are our hope.”²

Indeed, the young people we serve are not the Church of tomorrow any more than you are the Church of yesterday. The youth are the Church of today! And as you prepare them for the Sacrament of Confirmation, you are helping empower them to be the saints and kingdom builders they are called to be (as you become a saint and kingdom builder yourself).

We are honored to be on this journey with you. Know that we are praying for you as you do the most important work in human history: echoing the Good News that God has revealed to every generation.

Your friend in Christ,
About the Authors and Presenters

Chosen: Your Journey Toward Confirmation, features some of the most passionate and inspiring Catholic youth-ministry experts and speakers from across the country.

Co-Authors

Chris Stefanick is a co-author and presenter for Chosen. He speaks to more than 50,000 teens, young adults, and parents every year. Chris has served at a parish in the East Los Angeles area and as director of youth and young-adult ministry for the Archdiocese of Denver. He is the founder and president of Real Life Catholic, a nonprofit organization dedicated to reengaging a generation. Chris is a syndicated columnist, has authored or co-authored several books, and is a regular on Catholic TV and radio. Chris and his wife, Natalie, live with their children in Denver, Colorado. Chosen Program Overview

Chosen is a catechetical journey for teenaged Confirmation candidates (also called confirmandi). This program is designed to provide the essential intellectual and spiritual catechesis that is so vital to sacramental preparation.

Catechesis is different than an academic course, which seeks to impart knowledge about a given subject. While a catechist certainly teaches, and the student catechized certainly learns, the goal of catechesis is to bring about a personal encounter with Jesus Christ. It is teaching for conversion. The end result of effective catechesis is not a classroom full of smart students, but a community full of disciples. Each lesson of Chosen has been carefully laid out with this aim in mind.

The name of this program, Chosen, is meant to convey that Confirmation, like the other Sacraments of Initiation (Baptism, and the Eucharist) is not so much about us choosing God, as it is about him choosing us (see CCC 1).

Over the course of the next twenty-four lessons, your candidates will be invited first to hear, then to respond with faith to the voice of God who has called us to become his sons and daughters—simply because “he first loved us” (1 John 4:19).

The Chosen Catechetical Approach

Chosen follows the same three-phase catechumenal model used to prepare people to enter the Catholic Church through RCIA (Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults).* These stages are intended to facilitate conversion in the time leading up to the reception of the Sacraments of Initiation.

These three phases are expressed in the organization and structure of the catechetical presentation, following the classic Scripture passage in which Christ reveals his identity to Thomas and the other apostles: “Jesus said to him, ‘I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but by me’” (John 14:6). In Chosen, we discover that Jesus is ...

1. The Way

   Pre-catechumenate, a time to remove obstacles to belief (pre-evangelization, Lessons 1 and 2) and present the basic gospel message (evangelization, Lessons 3 to 6). The goal of this phase is conversion of heart and to provide the “framework” or context for every other lesson.

2. The Truth

   Catechumenate, the time of formation (Lessons 7 to 17). When the heart discovers who Jesus is and is trained to follow him, the seeds of faith which were planted at Baptism and strengthened through Confirmation will flourish in new life.

3. The Life

   Purification and enlightenment is a phase of more intense, interior formation in final preparation for the sacrament and for a life of discipleship (Lessons 18 to 24).

* General Directory for Catechesis (GDC), 59.
The Chosen program also offers several liturgical experiences for candidates that, like the “rites” of the RCIA model, provide an all-important opportunity for candidates to encounter Jesus in his Church. These include a retreat, a rite of welcoming, a Penance service, and a rite of enrollment. These resources are available as free downloads at ConfirmationStudy.com.

Following the celebration of the Sacrament of Confirmation is a phase called mystagogy. This is the phase in which the newly initiated Christian is immersed in the mysteries he or she has received and in the life of the Christian community. For the newly confirmed teenager, we think the best way to provide an opportunity for mystagogy is through youth ministry. If you do not have a youth-ministry program, check out great resources like LifeTeen.com, DeadTheologiansSociety.com, or ydisciple.org to implement youth ministry in your parish.

“Who’s Who?” in Confirmation: Explaining the Roles

It takes a whole Church to raise a disciple! Each time a youth is confirmed, he or she takes his or her place in the wider community of faith—among those who have played a vital role in helping him or her to reach this sacramental milestone. This sacramental “support team” includes ...

The Candidate (Confirmand): Teens can live up to our expectations ... if we take the time to communicate what we expect clearly and consistently. Be sure to convey to your candidates, both individually and as a group that (next to God’s) theirs is the most important role in their own preparation process.

Starting with the first class, communicate both verbally and in writing what you expect. Have your candidates and their parents sign the “Candidate Commitment” form (available as a free download at ConfirmationStudy.com) and bring it back to the next class. This pledge form includes essential commitments, such as:

- Mass attendance ... every Sunday (and on holy days of obligation).
- Class participation. Candidates must be on time and be attentive at every class, at prayer services and retreats, and at other required formation events.*
- Service hours. While specific requirements may vary from parish to parish and diocese to diocese, opportunities to serve in the community and parish should be provided and encouraged. These opportunities are most fruitful when supervised by team members and adult mentors.
- Complete homework assignments. Each lesson contains a “Taking It Home” section that reinforces what was learned in class and what will be covered in the “Review Game” the following week. Consider how you can best motivate your group.
- Doing the “Challenge of the Week.” Each week, candidates will complete a personal challenge that will help them apply that week’s material to their own lives.

* Discern, with your pastor, how to handle students who consistently miss class or who fail to follow through on other aspects of Confirmation preparation. In some cases, those who are unwilling to make Confirmation preparation a priority may not be ready to receive the sacrament. (That said, exceptions should be made if preparation is, in fact, a priority to the student, the sacrament is desired, and the requirements weren’t met for good reasons.)
Session Outline

Below is a suggested format for a 90-minute lesson. You can adapt these recommended plans to meet the particular needs of your group (e.g. by adapting the time spent on particular components or by assigning suggested in-class activities as homework), but this provides a basic model to get you started.

Each lesson follows the same basic format: (1) Review of the previous lesson and opening prayer, (2) video presentation, (3) small-group discussion, (4) group discussion and closing remarks, followed by a closing prayer, and (5) homework, which reinforces the material learned that week.

Chosen Session Format

90 minutes

Step 1 Welcome/“Review Game” (5 minutes, beginning with Lesson 3)

A DVD-based review of the previous week’s material. These questions are drawn from the “Watch It!” questions and the “Hero of the Week,” “Wrap-Up,” and “What’s That Word?” features (located in the “Taking It Home” section at the end of each lesson).

In order to build interest and excitement about the game, leaders may ask for two candidates to “face off” at the front of the class to answer the questions. Whoever gets the most correct answers wins a prize, which could range from candy to a five-dollar bill or iTunes gift card. Think creatively—nothing makes a game a success like a great prize.

If your candidates seem to need a “change,” consider adapting the game a bit using one of these variations—or one of your own!

- “Shout Out”: See who can call out the answer first.
- “Family Feud/College Bowl”: Divide into teams and have one member of each team “face off” for points.

Step 2 “Challenge of the Week Review” (5 minutes)

Students are encouraged to share their experiences of the “challenge” they chose to do the previous week. (See Step 8, “Challenge of the Week.”)

Leaders can ask if anyone would like to share a “challenge experience.” To break the ice, you might ask questions like, “Who chose the first challenge?” “Did you find it easy?” “Would any of you want to share what you wrote or any insights you gained?”

* The first lesson starts with an icebreaker called “Autograph Chasers.”
Step 3 “Opening Prayer” (3 minutes)

This prayer is based on the lesson topic for the week. The Student Workbook contains the “group” part of the prayer, with directions and notes for the teacher printed in the Leader’s Guide version.

Step 4 “Dive In” (5 minutes)

This feature is a thought-provoking story to draw candidates into the topic for the week. This can be read aloud by the leader or a candidate or read silently by the class. This is done before the video presentation.

Step 5 “Watch It!“/Small-Group Discussion – Video Presentation (50 minutes)

The video lessons are divided into three segments of four to eight minutes each.* At the end of each segment, the video is paused and candidates fill in two or three questions in their workbooks.

After checking to be sure that everyone has the correct answers, the facilitator then leads candidates through the small-group discussion questions before viewing the next segment. (Allow for about ten minutes after each segment.)

Recommended questions are printed in the Leader’s Guide; these can be adapted or modified to meet the needs of your group. Questions that are “open ended” or that could have several possible responses do not have an answer key. Other questions have Catechism references or other printed responses to assist you in facilitating the discussion.

Step 6 “To the Heart” (10 minutes)

After the small-group discussion, the class is then brought back together to read the “To the Heart” story, either silently or aloud by the leader or a candidate. A thought-provoking question is included in the Leader’s Guide in a red box to foster a brief class discussion.

In the first lesson, the “To the Heart” feature is omitted to give you time to communicate your expectations for the program to your group. A “Candidate Commitment” form is available in the “Online Resources” section of the Chosen website (ConfirmationStudy.com).

Step 7 “Hero of the Week” (5 minutes)

Each lesson highlights a saint whose life and work embodies that week’s topic. This piece can be read either silently or aloud by the leader or by a candidate.

* Lesson 1 and Lesson 24 contain two segments.
Step 8 “Challenge of the Week” (2 minutes)

Each week, candidates will be asked to choose from one of three personal challenges to help them apply that week’s lesson. They should read through the three options and then check the box next to the challenge they intend to complete. During the week, they will complete the challenge and write about it in the space provided in the Student Workbook.

Step 9 “Homework Instructions and Updates” (2 minutes)

Just before the closing prayer, remind candidates to read the “Wrap-Up” and the “What’s That Word?” vocabulary section in the “Taking It Home” part of the workbook. They should also review the “Watch It!” questions and the “Memory Verse” to prepare for the next lesson’s “Review Game.” Finally, don’t forget the “Challenge of the Week”!

Step 10 “Closing Prayer” (3 minutes)

This short prayer, included in the Student Workbook, reflects on the lesson’s topic. Before beginning, leaders may want to ask if anyone has any prayer intentions.

Note: The steps for Lessons 1, 2, and 24 are unique to those particular lessons.

The text for the opening prayer is found here in the Student Workbook section each week.

The “Steps” at the bottom of the pages will explain and guide you through each general component of the lesson. Simply follow each step for a fruitful and engaging classroom experience.

Throughout the Leader’s Guide, suggested words to say to the class are printed in WHITE text within the colored boxes in the margins.

Leader’s instructions are printed in RED text in the margins.
After the small-group discussions, read this story aloud, permit, follow-up questions and encourage presenter), read the thought-provoking question(s) discussion.

Step 6  To the Heart (10 minutes)

What part of nature “speaks” to you about God?

TO THE HEART  with   Chris Stefanick

There I was, sitting beneath a palm tree on a rocky point. Natalie was raised Catholic. Her mom had spent tens of thousands of dollars sending her to Catholic school. But she thought of the Faith as atheist.” But her mom never stopped praying for her. She was on a beach in Hawaii at 2 a.m. There I was, sitting beneath a palm tree on a rocky point. She was on a beach in Hawaii at 2 a.m. It was all too beautiful to account for itself. And, as if from some unknown place inside, the voice of Pope John Paul II, she realized, “That’s my shepherd, and I’m falling in love with Jesus and his grace.” A few months later, at the prodding of her family, Natalie decided to go on a retreat weekend. She felt the answer to the previous week’s “Find It!” after the “Review Game.” A prize could be awarded for a correct answer.

Discussion questions for the “To the Heart” section are found here each week in the red box.

The first time each Glossary word appears in the Student Workbook, it is called out with caps and gold text. Students are told they can check the Glossary in the back of the Student Workbook for a detailed definition.

The answers to the “Watch It!” questions are provided in RED text.

Also provided in the margins are Catechism and Scripture references. You may use these in preparation for the class (e.g. to orient yourself further with the material and to assist you in leading discussions). You may also choose to refer to them during class, if time permits.

Each week, there is a “Find It!” question. We suggest you ask if anyone found the answer to the previous week’s “Find It!” the “Watch It!”
Overview

In the last chapter, we talked about salvation history. The purpose of this lesson is to focus on the ways in which God makes himself known to us and how we should respond to what he has revealed. We examine the relationship between faith and reason and how both of these things—properly understood—bring us to a right understanding of the truth. We also highlight the profoundly intimate nature of faith, which is an act of surrender to the God who first gave himself to us.

In school, in their communities, and through the media, students are bombarded with the idea that there is no such thing as objective moral or spiritual truth, but that these things are “relative” to what each person thinks. As a result of this “relativism” (which Pope Francis identified as “the spiritual poverty of our time”6), faith and morals have been reduced to personal opinion or sentiment rather than reality. “Jesus is God for me.” “Abortion is immoral to the Catholic Church.”

As they grow in their understanding of Catholicism, your students need to move toward a truly adult approach to faith, based on full intellectual assent to the teachings of the Church—which aren’t merely valid because they are our traditions, but because what God has revealed is true.

Objectives of this Lesson

1. Explain how God can be known through what he has revealed through the order and diversity of nature, as perceived through human reason (see CCC 50, 54). (Also clarify that claiming to know the truth is not incompatible with loving and respecting those with whom we disagree.)

2. Explain divine revelation. God reveals himself through Scripture and Tradition, culminating in the person and work of Christ (see CCC 53, 80–82).

3. Discuss the gift of faith as our proper response to this revelation. Though faith is a gift, it is also a virtue we strengthen through exercise (see CCC 142–143, 153).
Step 1  Welcome/Review Game (5 minutes)

Begin by welcoming the class and telling them that you will be starting with a review of last week’s material. On the DVD menu, click on Lesson 4; then on the sub-menu, click on “Review Game.” Have students answer the questions based on the previous lesson. For more information about how to adapt this game to meet the needs of your group, see the “Review Game” section in the Introduction to this Leader’s Guide (page xvi).

Step 2  Challenge of the Week Review (5 minutes)

Ask if anyone would like to share a “challenge experience” from the previous week. Try to draw students out by prompting them with basic questions regarding the challenges from last week (e.g., “Did anyone choose the first challenge?”).

Step 3  Opening Prayer (3 minutes)

Lead the class in the “Opening Prayer,” which is included in the Student Workbook. Leader’s Guide notes are provided above: Red text provides direction and guidance, and white text is for you to read aloud to the class.

Opening Prayer

As I begin to understand your story and how I fit into it, there are times when I’m struggling with what to do now. How do you want me to respond and live out my faith in my family, my school, and with my friends? I’m still learning to believe, but I’m now starting to see that you have a plan for me. So, even though I sometimes may feel a bit scared or unsure about what it all means, please help me to be open to you and how you want me to live. Amen.

“How do I know God is real?”
(Understanding Divine Revelation)
Imagine that someone has offered you a month-long, all-expenses-paid trip to your dream destination! Your passport is ready, your bag has been packed, your parents have said “yes.” All you have to do is get on that plane and go. Would you? Right now?

It would be risky, being out on your own. Maybe you’re afraid of planes. Maybe you’ll eat something bad and get sick. Maybe you’ll get lost. Maybe something will happen to someone in your family while you’re gone. Do you risk it? It’s up to you.

Love is the same way. Allowing ourselves to love and be loved, as we were created to be, is risky. And yet, each of us longs for the kind of love that allows us to be completely open and honest. There is such freedom in that kind of closeness.

Every human relationship involves different levels of intimacy—from the less intimate chats with acquaintances, to the more heartfelt talks and confidences of friendship, to the “got your back” trust we have with our closest friends and family members. Over time, we learn which people we can trust and which ones we can’t—all from opening ourselves, bit by bit, to find the intimacy we crave.

Sometimes, that trust may be misplaced. A friend may break a confidence; the guy (or girl) you’ve had a crush on may break your heart. Even family members let us down sometimes (though they usually come through for us if we give them a chance).

Trust in God is never misplaced. God wants intimacy with us. Maybe you never thought of God as a lover or a friend, but he thinks of himself that way. He is referred to as “the Bridegroom” in Scripture1 and told his apostles, “You are my friends” (John 15:14).

The Native American warrior and Catholic convert, Joseph Chiwatenhwa, once said about God, “Now I begin to see that the reason you made us is because you want to share your love. Nothing attracts you as much as your people.”

Yes, God wants you to know him! And though he already knows everything about you, he wants you to open your heart and life up to him! We’re going to talk about what God has done to make himself known and how he wants us to respond to what he has revealed. Just as it is with the risk of taking any journey or engaging in any relationship, the journey of faith requires trust.

Step 4 Dive In (5 minutes)

Read this story aloud, have a candidate read it aloud, or have the class read it silently before watching the video segments. This thought-provoking story ties in to the lesson’s topic and serves to set up the video presentation.
Segment 1: Evidence for God
1. Chris compares the probability of the universe forming out of nothing to the probability of a print shop explosion resulting in a ___.
   A) novel  C) movie script
   B) dictionary  D) newspaper
2. The fullness of divine revelation is found in ___.
   Jesus Christ

Segment 2: Scripture and Tradition
3. Both Sacred ___ and Sacred Scripture form the deposit of faith, God’s revelation to us.
4. The Gospels, the four books in the Bible that tell us about the life of Jesus, are Matthew, Mark, ___ John ___.
5. The Bible is a collection of ___ books.
   A) 12  B) 76  C) 52  D) 73

Segment 3: Our Response to God
1. We respond to divine revelation with the gift of ___ faith ___.
2. T or F? Faith is a one-time decision.

Small-Group Discussion
Segment 1: Evidence for God
1. Can you think of a time when God revealed himself to you? Maybe it was in prayer or through another person or an event that happened.
2. Pretend you are talking to a nonbeliever. What “proofs” of God’s existence can you share?

Segment 2: Scripture and Tradition
1. How often do you read the Bible? What stops you from reading it more often?
2. Share your favorite story or verse from the Bible and the reason you like it.¹

Segment 3: The Response of God
1. Do you know anyone who does not believe in God? Why do you think he or she does not believe in God?
2. Do you ever find it hard to trust God or to remember that he loves you no matter what? If so, what have you done—or what could you do in the future—to work through this problem?

Small-Group Discussion Leader’s Notes
1. Consider presenting each candidate with a Catholic Bible and encouraging him or her to read a little bit every day as part of Confirmation preparation. A free online version is available at USCCB.org.

Step 5: Watch It!/Small-Group Discussion (50 minutes)

On the video, click on Lesson 4, Segment 1. When Segment 1 ends, have students fill in the “Watch It!” questions (2 to 3 minutes). Run through them to be sure they wrote the correct answers so they will have them to prepare for the next “Review Game.”

Next, lead students in a small-group discussion for Segment 1. You may begin by asking general questions like: “What part of the video spoke to you the most?” Discussion questions for each segment are provided in the blue box above.

Follow the same steps for Segments 2 and 3. (Allow for about ten minutes of discussion time after each segment.)
Natalie was raised Catholic. Her mom had spent tens of thousands of dollars sending her to Catholic school. But she thought of the Faith as nothing but an oppressive list of rules. There must be “something more” to life. Something deeper. Something SACRED. She went to college and looked outside of the Faith for that “something.”

“I entered the college party scene, but it left me empty,” she remembers. “I took classes about world cultures, astronomy, and philosophy. I sought advice from renowned educators who had studied other religions. I tried meditation and eastern religions, hoping to ‘break through’ to a ‘higher reality.’ I found only disillusionment.”

Eventually, she gave up faith altogether. She called her mom from college and said, “Mom, I’m an atheist.” But her mom never stopped praying for her. (Beware the power of praying moms and grandmas!)

Natalie’s faith returned at a most unexpected moment. She wasn’t at church. She wasn’t on a retreat. She wasn’t in a CONFIRMATION class. She was on a beach in Hawaii at 2 am. Here is how she described the moment.

“There I was, sitting beneath a palm tree on a rocky point. I looked out and saw perfectly shaped waves, sea green in the moon’s glowing light. The sky was full of stars, with scattered meteors shooting across. It was natural perfection. And, as if from some unknown place inside, my mind uttered the words, “Thank you.”

I caught myself. Who was I talking to? I had rejected the notion of a God, so who was I talking to? But as I gazed...

I caught myself. Who was I talking to? I had rejected the notion of a God, so who was I talking to? But as I gazed TO THE HEART again at the scene before me, something inside me melted. It was all too beautiful to account for itself. Someone had painted it! And despite my prior convictions, I began to believe again.

A few months later, at the prodding of her family, Natalie decided to go on a retreat weekend. She felt out of place. She wanted to be away from everyone and went outside, but she couldn’t stop crying. Wherever she went, she sensed Jesus standing in front of her with open arms.

She went to World Youth Day and, hearing the voice of Pope John Paul II, she realized, “That’s my shepherd, and I’m falling in love with Jesus and his Church again.” But even as she said it, she knew it wasn’t really “again,” but for the first time.

Natalie’s journey back to Jesus began with the natural world “evangelizing” her. I had the awesome blessing of marrying her five years later.

What Augustinian priest and scientist is known as the “Father of Modern Genetics?”

Gregor Mendel
Thomas Aquinas was the kid who always got picked last in gym class.

He was big and slow, and he never said much—always lost in his thoughts. His classmates used to call him “that dumb ox.” His teachers, though, had a different view. His mentor, St. Albert the Great, once said, “One day the bellow of that dumb ox will be heard around the world.”

What Aquinas lacked in speed, he made up for in intelligence. At the age of five, he asked, “What is God?” His teacher was stumped … so Thomas decided to become a theologian to find out. He was confident that the existence of God could be proven. In fact, he came up with five such proofs.

Thomas decided he wanted to become a Dominican priest. His family hated the idea. They had different career goals for Thomas. His brothers kidnapped and imprisoned him in a room with a prostitute to test his resolve. Aquinas picked up a burning stick from the fireplace and chased the woman away, then burned a cross on the door of his cell. He knew what he wanted—and he knew it wasn’t to be found in the pleasures and riches of this world. He wanted truth … plain and simple.

Aquinas spent his entire life trying to understand the mysteries of God, not in order to prove how smart he was, but out of a desire to know God and to make him known to others. He wrote some of the most important theological works ever written, more than 50,000 pages of text over a period of more than twenty-five years, keeping four scribes scribbling busily the entire time! And yet his greatest work, the Summa Theologica, remained unfinished at his death. Seeing God’s glory in a mystical vision, Aquinas said, “All I have written is like so much straw compared to what I have seen.”

After that vision, he spent the rest of his days focused on the simplest truths—teaching the Faith to children.

Toward the end of Aquinas’ life, his confessor, Brother Reginald, witnessed the philosopher in a chapel, face down before a great crucifix. He heard Jesus speak to Aquinas from the cross, saying, “Thomas, you have written well of me. What will you have for your reward?” Aquinas replied, “Only yourself, Lord.”

It was the most perfect summary of his life’s work. Declared a Doctor of the Church in 1567 by Pope Pius V, the life story of St. Thomas Aquinas reminds us that God does not want even the most intellectually gifted of us merely to understand him. He wants us to love him … and to let him love us.

St. Thomas Aquinas, pray for us, that we will have the humility to ask God for the faith to believe even when we cannot understand.
Challenge of the Week

- Read from one of the Gospels for three minutes every day. Take two minutes afterward to think about what you read. Write about it in the space below.

- Choose a prayer space at home for a daily conversation with God. Make sure a Bible is handy for your use along with any images or items (natural or man-made) that help you focus your mind on God. Write about it in the space below.

- Practice your listening skills. Meet with a close friend or family member. For a full five minutes, listen attentively, asking questions as needed. In the space below, write about something you learned about that person and how it affected your relationship.

Closing Prayer

"But as for you, continue in what you have learned ... from childhood you have been acquainted with the sacred writings which are able to instruct you for salvation through faith in Christ Jesus."

—2 Timothy 3:14-15

Lord Jesus, you reveal yourself to us in so many ways: through the inspired words of the Bible, the teachings of the Church, the beauty of nature, and in the quiet of our own hearts. Give us the grace to respond enthusiastically to the many ways you invite us to come closer to you, and inspire us to shine as lights in a dark world. Amen.

Step 8 Challenge of the Week (2 minutes)

Ask your candidates to read the “challenges” above and choose one of the three to complete this week. Have them check the box next to the challenge they intend to complete. Encourage them to write about their experiences in the space provided.

Step 9 Homework Instructions and Updates (2 minutes)

Remind candidates to read the “Wrap-Up” and the “What's That Word?” sections in the “Taking It Home” section of the Student Workbook. They should also review the “Watch It!” questions to prepare for the next “Review Game.”

Step 10 Closing Prayer (3 minutes)

As a way of building up community, ask if there are any prayer intentions. Write them down (or have candidates share them aloud) and after praying for those intentions, have the class read the “Closing Prayer” together (provided in the Student Workbook).
For next week’s “Review Game,” be sure to read over the following …

1. Watch It! questions (page 27)
2. Wrap-Up
3. “What’s That Word?”
4. Memory Verse

Don’t forget to do your Challenge of the Week (page 31)

Taking It Home

Wrap-Up

“The probability of life originating from an accident is comparable to the probability of the unabridged dictionary resulting from an explosion in a print shop.”

—Edwin Conklin
(Princeton biologist and associate of Albert Einstein)

Think about it. A single strand of your DNA is more complex than a dictionary. While scientific theories all attempt to explain some aspect of Creation, from evolution to the Big Bang, believing the universe came into being without some intelligent “oversight” just doesn’t make sense. If we see a book, we know there is an author. If we see a painting, we know there is a painter. And when we see an ordered universe, we know there was an ultimate “beginning” … a Creator.

This is why all the philosophers of antiquity (some of the greatest minds that ever lived) believed in God and why most relativists, and even many self-proclaimed atheists, believe in God. In fact, less than three percent of people in the world describe themselves as atheists!*

In this lesson, we’ve talked about some of the ways God reveals himself through creation and through NATURAL REASON. These things are the starting points for something called “divine revelation,” or how God reveals himself more intimately to the human race. The greatest divine revelation, of course, is Jesus Christ.

* Only 2.32 percent of the world’s population is atheist, according to The World Factbook (January 19, 2011).
“What’s That Word?”

FAITH

Faith refers to the gift that allows us to believe in God and what he has told us. As the Bible tells us, “Faith is the realization of what is hoped for and evidence of things not seen” (Hebrews 11:1, NAB). For example, we have faith that our friend will not let us down or betray us when we are not present.

Grace builds on a different kind of faith—the theological virtue that was infused in us at BAPTISM. Through the gift of faith, God grants us the ability to accept as true all he has revealed to us in Christ that we receive in the Church. “The Faith,” or “the Catholic Faith,” refers to the fullness of God’s revelation that has been entrusted to the Church and which the Church faithfully hands on to each generation of believers in her doctrine, life, and worship. The living teaching office (the MAGISTERIUM) alone, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, authentically interprets the Word of God that comes to us in Scripture and Tradition. Scripture, TRADITION, and the Magisterium are so closely connected that one cannot stand without the other two (see Dei Verbum nos. 7, 8, 10).

On an individual level, the gift of faith must be exercised in virtue to grow strong and sustain us in difficult times. We pray for the gift of faith so that we will be able to believe, and we exercise and strengthen our faith when we try to understand what God has revealed and to live accordingly.

NATURAL REASON

Natural reason refers to the human power to think or figure something out, as opposed to “revelation,” which is what we know because God has told us. We can know things by natural reason and by revelation. Using our reason, we are able to figure out that there must be a Creator of the world or that stealing from someone is unjust. There are some things we are not able to figure out by reason alone. We would not have known that God is a Trinitarian unless he had told us, unless it had been revealed.

REVELATION

God reveals himself to us, and what he reveals of himself is called revelation.

The authors of the Bible took this word from the Hebrew wedding RITUAL where it literally meant “unveiling.” It is God’s deepest desire to “unveil” himself to us and invite us to a new and wonderful life with him, a life characterized by a deep and lasting relationship more intimate than the one shared by a newly married couple.

The Church has carefully preserved and taught God’s revelation, and we can find what God has revealed of himself in the Bible and in Sacred Tradition.

Memory Verse:

“Every one then who hears these words of mine and does them will be like a wise man who built his house upon the rock…”

—Matthew 7:24
Jesus entrusted the “handing on” (traditio in Latin) of the gospel message to his apostles, whom he commissioned to “make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit” (Matthew 28:19). The Church, then, is founded upon the authority Christ gave to his apostles to teach the truths he gave them to hand on.

Jesus taught his apostles many things. Some of what Jesus taught was written down under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit and comes to us in the form of the Bible (Sacred Scripture). Some of what he taught them was “handed on” through their teaching; we refer to these teachings as “Sacred Tradition.” We have many “traditions” in the Church, just as we have “traditions” in our families and schools. However, Sacred Tradition refers to the handing on of the Gospel and the teaching of Jesus in the Holy Spirit by the Church in her doctrine, life, and worship.

God made the human heart for himself, and he reveals himself to everyone through creation and in the circumstances of life. Because of that, other religions have beautiful and true glimpses of who God is and how we should live our lives, and the Church “rejects nothing that is true and holy in [other] religions.” But the fullness of truth about God can only be found in Christ and in his Church. God became one of us to tell us in person who he is! So, while other faiths may provide glimpses of God, Jesus alone reveals the whole picture.

According to tradition, St. Helena discovered the true Cross of Christ in the fourth century. Enshrined in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in Jerusalem, it was recaptured by Muslim forces in the seventh century. However, fragments have been restored, and the “Adoration of the Cross” is observed each Good Friday in Jerusalem.

Did You Know?

Any questions

Are Catholics the only ones who know God? Is everyone else flat-out wrong?

God made the human heart for himself, and he reveals himself to everyone through creation and in the circumstances of life. Because of that, other religions have beautiful and true glimpses of who God is and how we should live our lives, and the Church “rejects nothing that is true and holy in [other] religions.” But the fullness of truth about God can only be found in Christ and in his Church. God became one of us to tell us in person who he is! So, while other faiths may provide glimpses of God, Jesus alone reveals the whole picture.

What’s more important, the Church or the Bible?

They’re both important! The two can’t be pitted against each other. The Church Jesus founded (the “pillar and foundation of truth,” 1 Timothy 3:15, NAB) authoritatively teaches us that the Bible is the Word of God. At the Council of Hippo (439), the Catholic bishops declared that the seventy-three books of “the Bible” are the words of God himself in the words of men. Catholics have been reading from those seventy-three books ever since. Every time the Sacred Scriptures are proclaimed, life-transforming grace is given, for “the word of God is living and effective, sharper than any two-edged sword” (Hebrews 4:12).
